Ukraine says it has sunk two Russian naval ships, along with a communication center and several other installations belonging to the Black Sea Fleet.

There were no comments from Russian authorities, although the Russian politician and governor of Sevastopol Mikhail Razvozhayev has recognized the attack on the Telegram channel as "the most massive in recent times".

Um usuário postou no canal local do Telegram mostra uma série de grandes explosões na cidade, enviando bolas e fumaça preta grossa para o ar. Outra bola pode ser vista à distância

Ukraine said the ships sunk were two amphibious ships, the Yamal and the Azov. The extent of the damage was not immediately clear.

Praising the attacks, the commander of the Ukrainian Air Force Mykola Oleshchuk wrote on social media: "The sky and the sea are the same color! Thank you to the pilots of the Ukrainian army for their successful work in the fight. Crimea is ours!! For the victory together!"

Without referring to any military location hit, Razvozhayev said that a person was killed in the attack. Maritime and land transport in the city "partially damaged".

In other parts of Crimea, Russian military bloggers say that Ukrainian forces also hit local sites in the west and center of the peninsula, including the Hvardiiske (which is north of Simferopol), the Administrative Center in Crimea; users posting on Telegram suggested that a petrochemical installation was hit there...

It is not possible to immediately verify the latest claims from both sides.

While Moscow seems to have an advantage in the land campaign, the forces of Kiev have succeeded in attacking the Black Sea Fleet of Russia.

More than 20 Russian naval ships were now disabled or destroyed, a third of the fleet.

Although Ukraine does not have its own marine technology and incompetence in the Russian navy gave it a big advantage in the Black Sea - In October last year satellite images indicated that Russia had moved some of its ships far from Sevastopol after a series of Ukrainian attacks...

If the attacks on Sunday against the Yamal and Azov are confirmed, this would mean that Russia had only three ships working in the Black Sea. Ukraine says Moscow began a large-scale invasion with 13 of these ships.

In September, an attack with Ukrainian missiles also destroyed the headquarters of the Black Sea Fleet in Sevastopol.

For Ukraine, the impact is not only military but also economic because it helps ensure the security of a maritime corridor that goes from Odesa and other ports to the Bosphorus, allowing Ukraine to sell grain and products in global markets.
